C 5

D 3

E 6

Q20. The table shows the population of the world at certain times.

| Year | Population in millions |
|---|---|
| 1000 | 275 |
| 1500 | 450 |
| 1600 | 500 |
| 1900 | 1600 |
| 2000 | 6143 |
| 2020 | 7795 |

Which of the following periods saw the smallest increase in the number of people per year?

A 1000–1500

B 1500–1600

C 1600–1900

D 1900–2000

E 2000–2020

Q21. Which multiple of 7 and 9 is found between 650 and 700?

A 663
B 677
C 651
D 687
E 693

Q22. If 10th June is a Wednesday, on what day of the week is 4th July?

A Saturday
B Thursday
C Friday
D Sunday
E Monday

Q23. Study the pattern below, which is made up of triangles and circles.

How many black circles will be in Shape 10?

A 30
B 24
C 12
D 14
E 16

Q24. What number should go in the empty box to make the statement correct?

$35 \times 27 + 55 \times 27 = 27 \times (100 - \square)$

A 35

B 27

C 15

D 10

E 5

A kilolitre is a unit of volume equivalent to 1000 litres.

1 litre of water will exactly fill a container that measures 1000 $cm^3$.

The diagram shows the plan view (from above) and side view of an aquarium that measures 20 m × 6 m.

The depth of the aquarium is 3 m.

Not to scale.

The information relates to questions 25–27.

Q25. What is the volume of the aquarium?

A 360 $m^3$

B 320 $m^3$

C 390 $m^3$

D 420 $m^3$

E 270 $m^3$

Q26. How many litres of water does it take to fill a container measuring 50 cm × 50 cm × 50 cm?

A 25 litres

B 125 litres

C 75 litres

D 225 litres

E 50 litres

Q27. How many kilolitres of water does it take to fill a container measuring 10 m × 10 m × 10 m?

A 1 kilolitres

B 0.1 kilolitres

C 100 kilolitres

D 10 kilolitres

E 1000 kilolitres

Q28. Mrs Educaz is a teacher who works 8 hours a day from Monday to Friday.

During her working day, she is always either teaching or preparing lessons.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Mrs Educaz's teaching time and preparation time is in a ratio of 4:2.

On Tuesday and Thursday, her teaching time and preparation time is in a ratio of 3:1.

How many hours a week does Mrs Educaz spend teaching?

A 20 hours

B 24 hours

C 22 hours

D 26 hours

E 28 hours

Q29. A snake can travel 20 times the length of its body in one minute.

If the snake is 7 m long, approximately how far can it travel in 1 hour?

A 8 km

B 0.5 km

C 90 km

D 140 m

E 85 km

Q30. Sasha thinks of a 2-digit number.

Her number has an odd number of factors.

The digits of the number total 13.

What is Sasha's number?

A 85

B 58

C 49

D 67

E 94

Q31. The square below has an area of 1600 cm².

All of the square's sides are decreased by one-quarter of their original length to form a new, smaller square.

What is the area of the smaller square?

A 800 cm²

B 300 cm²

C 900 cm²

D 200 cm²

E 400 cm²

Q32. Daisy has some flowers.

She could make a number of patterns with exactly 2 flowers in each pattern and have no flowers left over.

She could make a number of patterns with exactly 3 flowers in each pattern and have no flowers left over.

She could make a number of patterns with exactly 4 flowers in each pattern and have no flowers left over.

She could make a number of patterns with exactly 5 flowers in each pattern and have no flowers left over.

She could make a number of patterns with exactly 6 flowers in each pattern and have no flowers left over.

What is the smallest number of flowers that Daisy could have?

A 30

B 120

C 90

D 60

E 720

Q33. Mary wanted to multiply by 2.5 but, by mistake, she divided by 2.5 instead.

Her answer was 8.

What should her answer have been?

A 20

B 50

C 32

D 42

E 60

Q34. The shape below is made from identical squares.

The perimeter of the shape is 72 cm.

What is the area of the shape?

A 216 cm²

B 196 cm²

C 186 cm²

D 240 cm²

E 172 cm²

Q35. A children's dart board has three possible scores.

It is also possible to score zero if a dart misses.

Which one of the following scores is not possible with three darts?

A 11

B 16

C 7

D 12

E 15

Q36. Paul cuts out several equilateral triangles, each with a perimeter of 15 cm.

Paul cuts each triangle in half down one of its lines of symmetry.

Paul then uses six of the new triangles to make the following shape:

What is the outer perimeter of the shape?

A 25 cm

B 27.5 cm

C 30 cm

D 22.5 cm

E 40 cm

Q37. A hundredth of a century is one year.

What is a hundredth of a week to the nearest minute?

A 11 minutes

B 83 minutes

C 326 minutes

D 101 minutes

E 49 minutes

Q38. Diagram 1 shows a shape made from identical cubes.

Diagram 2 shows the front elevation of the shape (the view from the front).

Diagram 1

Diagram 2

Which diagram below shows the correct side elevation of the shape, as viewed from the right side?

A A

B B

C C

D D

E E

Q39. Mr Opus is travelling by train from Sundon to Landon.

Landon is 40 kilometres away from Sundon.

At what speed does the train need to travel for the journey to take 50 minutes?

A 50 km per hour

B 45 km per hour

C 54 km per hour

D 60 km per hour

E 48 km per hour

Q40. A watering can filled with water weighs 10 kg.

When the watering can is half full, the weight of the can and water is 6.5 kg.

How much does the empty watering can weigh?

A 2.5 kg

C 55 000
D 25 000
E 600 000

The first three terms in a number sequence are as follows:

Term 1: 6 + 5 = 11
Term 2: 12 + 10 = 22
Term 3: 18 + 15 = 33

Questions 44 and 45 relate to the sequence.

Q44. What is the value of Term 10 in the sequence?

A 150
B 100
C 110
D 130
E 120

Q45. Which one of the following is from the same sequence?

A 22 + 66 = 88

B 42 + 35 = 77

C 15 + 40 = 55

D 24 + 42 = 66

E 18 + 32 = 50

Q46. Look at the numbers below:

5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 14, 15, 16

Which two numbers need to be removed in order for the remaining numbers to have a mean value of 9?

A 15 and 16

B 14 and 15

C 14 and 16

D 9 and 14

E 11 and 15

Q47. Mr Fit walks to work in the mornings.

In the evenings, he changes and jogs home from work.

The total time to get to and from work is 40 minutes.

If Mr Fit were to walk both ways, the total time to get to and from work would be 1 hour.

What would be the total time to get to and from work if Mr Fit were to jog both ways?

A 30 minutes

B 24 minutes

C 15 minutes

D 28 minutes

E 20 minutes

Q48. Look at the shapes below.

If the area of the square is 4 square units, what is the area of the larger shape?

A 5.5 square units

B 6 square units

C 6.5 square units

D 5 square units

E 4.5 square units

Q49. The time in Tokyo is 13 hours ahead of New York.

A virtual meeting is scheduled between businesses in the two cities.

The meeting will take place at 7 p.m. in New York on Tuesday evening.

Section B

The extract below is from Whale Boy, by Nicola Davies.

Read the extract carefully and then answer the questions that follow.

The moment the bell sounded, he was off. He dodged across the playground and out of the gate. The other children watched him go and shrugged: that Michael Fontaine was a mystery – he never seemed to talk to anyone in school and he was always running somewhere.

Michael ran across the park, between the talipot palms and the frangipani trees. He didn't stop to watch the tiny emerald hummingbirds dashing amongst the hibiscus blossoms, but raced straight out onto the Old Town road, which ran around the bay. He ran past the little wooden houses and the shops with homemade signs, and the gaps between them where the beach and the ocean showed through. Taxis and buses jostled along in the Friday afternoon heat – children going home from school, tourists heading inland to the mountains, grown-ups finishing work early. Girls perched in doorways plaiting their hair and painting their nails. On the pavement, old ladies on picnic chairs sold mangoes from carrier bags, and a skinny fisherman chopped up a huge tuna with a machete, like someone doing a conjuring trick. Calypso music danced out of open windows, and it felt like the whole of Rose Town was already in holiday mood, although it was just an ordinary weekend and Carnival was still a few weeks away.

Everyone was in a good mood, and Michael's many employers greeted him as they saw him running past. Mr Rooseveldt Dringo, whose bus, De Truth, Michael washed every Sunday night, honked his horn and whistled. 'Mikey! Why you in such a big rush?'

Miss Eliza Harmany, the proprietor of Gifted Hands Unisex Hair Salon, blew kisses. 'Hey, Michael, you coming to sweep up for me Tuesday?'

But only Mr Errol Joseph, owner of the Flying Fish Frizzle Bar and Restaurant, got any more than a smile and a wave out of Michael as he rushed along.

'Michael!' he called out. 'Can you work tonight?'

Michael stopped in the shade of the awning. 'Sure, Mr Joseph,' he panted.

'Ah, Michael. I knew I could rely on you. Can I get you an iced tea? Wanna seat?'

'Not right now, Mr Joseph. I'm on my way to put the next down payment on my boat!'

'So that's why you in such a rush!' Mr Joseph smiled. 'How long you been savin' now, Mikey?'

'Three years,' he replied proudly.

Mr Joseph shook the boy's hand solemnly. 'Respect to you, Mikey!' he said. 'You'll be catching fish like your father did any day now!'

'Maybe tomorrow!' Michael grinned. 'Mr Levi said I could take the boat when I'd paid half of the price. And this' – he patted the money in his pocket – 'makes up the half!'

Mr Joseph's face clouded. 'D'you mean Edison Levi? At the yard next to the fish market?'

The grim look on Mr Joseph's face made Michael's mouth go dry. He nodded without speaking.

Mr Joseph shook his head in dismay. 'Oh Mikey! You better get down there. They're putting some big old fence round the whole place, shuttin' everyone out.'

Michael didn't wait to ask any more. He flew along past the public baths, the radio station and the library, through the one smart bit of town where a few swanky hotels looked out to sea, and down to the seafront. He felt as if his feet weren't even touching the hot concrete as he sped round the corner of the fish market and went smack into the taut steel mesh of a huge pair of gates. A sign said:

KEEP OUT!
NEW MARINE ENTERPRISES –
BRINGING PROSPERITY FROM THE OCEAN TO THE REPUBLIC OF LIBERTY:
ROSE TOWN QUAY REDEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME AND MARINE EXHIBITION CENTRE

Edison Levi's shack had stood at the corner of the fish market for ever. His stock of scruffy canoes and battered rowing boats had gathered alongside like a little flock of ragged seagulls, among them the boat that Michael had come to think of as his own. It was not much bigger than a table top, and its blue fibreglass was whiskery from age and sun, rather like Mr Levi himself. But it didn't leak and it was easy to row. It was his start in the world; the first step towards having a boat big enough to take people out fishing and dolphin spotting, the way he and his dad had always planned. From the moment he set eyes on it, Michael had loaded it with a cargo of dreams.

Mr Levi had kept a careful record of every one of Michael's down payments in the red notebook that he stored under the cushion of his rocking chair. Only two days ago he had said, 'Another twenty dollars, Mikey, and you can start to use her. Once you're catching fish you'll pay off the rest in no time. Hey, I'll even throw in a fish trap!'

But there was no sign of Edison Levi now. Men in hard hats were flinging the splintered remains of his shack into a huge skip, where fragments of boat stuck up like teeth. The blue prow of Michael's boat poked out at one end, its broken stern at the other. Michael laced his fingers through the wire fence and stared in horror.

B He was conscientious about keeping an account of Mikey's payments.

C His business clearly did not bring in much money.

D He had spoken to Mikey only two days previous.

E He seemed to want to help Mikey achieve his plan.

Section C

The extract below is from In the Trees, by Pauline Fisk.

Read the extract carefully and then answer the questions that follow.

Business was dead that night, which meant that Kid was able to take off the specials grill earlier than usual, transfer the quarter-pounders to the main grill and embark on what everybody in Jet's Burger Joint knew as 'the close' – that mysterious process by which machines were shut down and the establishment prepared for the following day.

If he could get through it all, Kid reckoned, then perhaps he'd be able to slip off even before the last customer was through the door. Maybe the floor would still need swabbing and the till cashing-up, but those final things could be left to someone else.

Kid checked his mobile phone again. It was almost as if he couldn't quite believe what Nadine's message said. Jet gave him his special 'no phones at work' look, but he didn't care. He unclipped the Teflon clams, wiped them on both sides, pulled on a pair of rubber gloves and started attacking the grill with squeegee, scraper and a stack of cloths.

Under normal circumstances, Kid liked cleaning grills. It was the one job that everybody else hated, but he liked the uniformity of it. Liked the fact that, once you'd got the hang of it, you didn't need to think. But then Kid liked hard work. On a good night, he'd have the floor swept and the cashing-up done before the last customer disappeared and the sign went up on the door. The knack was not to get dragged into helping with any last-minute cooking, otherwise everything would have to start all over again.

But not tonight, Kid thought, dragging the scraper back and forth until the grill was shining. Please God, not tonight. He finished off the second grill and peeled off his gloves.

'That's it, boys and girls,' said Jet. 'Shut the door and pull down the blinds. No one else comes in. We're off.'

Kid didn't need to be told twice. He headed for the door. 'Hey, you slacker – have you put the buns out by the toasters?' Jet called after him.

'Yes,' Kid called back.

'Have the pots all been returned to their stations?'

'Yes.'

'Are you bloody perfect?' Jet called. 'Yes, of course you are! Get out of here – I don't want to see your ugly face again until tomorrow night. Six on the dot, or else you're fired!'

Kid knew Jet would never fire him. Who else was going to do what he did for the pittance he was paid? Sometimes it really got to him how mean Jet was and he'd go home grumbling. But tonight he headed off into the south London night with better things on his mind.

24. 'Business was dead that night' (line 1)

Marking Guidance

For each question, the maximum number of marks available is shown.

Where questions require multiple answers and use the rubric, 'Select all that are correct', negative marking should also be applied, whereby 1 mark is deducted for each incorrect answer selected down to 0 marks (note that the number of marks per question cannot be negative).

For example:

If a question is worth 2 marks and requires options A, B and C to be selected:

Award 2 marks for A, B and C selected or 1 mark for any two correct answers selected.

Award 1 mark for A, B, C and D or E selected (2 marks – 1 incorrect = 1 mark).

Award 0 marks for A, B, C, D and E selected (2 marks – 2 incorrect = 0 marks).

Award 0 marks for A, B and E selected or equivalent (1 mark – 1 incorrect = 0 marks).

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1. | E | [1 mark] |
| 2. | B | [1 mark] |
| 3. | D | [1 mark] |
| 4. | A | [1 mark] |
| 5. | B | [1 mark] |
